Drop In Range

The drop in well, top and display units are designed to perform correct conservation of hot and cold food during self or assisted service. They can be fitted into the designed environment and bench space as required. Drop in units are made of AISI 304 stainless steel and can be supplied with universal glass sneeze guards on polished chrome or stainless steel side supports, LED energy-saving lighting for cold units or hot halogen lamps for hot units.

The Soul range is perfect for the presentation of food in a safe and professional way. Each product also comes with several accessories to enhance the purpose of use as required. The range is widely popular within the hotel industry for the presentation of food in large quantities.
